

How to Improve Command over Spoken and Written English

Spoken English

To get the most out of your speaking and writing skills, you will have to practice a lot. To have a command over spoken English one has to focus on the following points given below:

1. Read English newspaper

Reading newspapers in English helps you master spoken English. Stay updated on daily news. In that case, watch news channels in English and read the newspaper in English and try to understand the news. Along with this, your eyes will focus on seeing the title of the news, and your ears will focus on English words that, in turn, will indicate to your brain that you have heard what you want to say. Also start watching English movies, which will complement your English with various words of English.

2. Practice reading loud

Every time you read something in English to get a good command of yourself, speak out loud, with that you will understand, along with what has been shown to speak, your interest will start increasing in reading.

3. Speak in the front of Mirror

The fact that you want to increase your self confidence, your speaking skills has always been decisive, mirror is the best guide for you. So make the mirror your best friend who can fully reproduce it because it shows you in real life. If you have the right to chase yourself in front of the mirror, you can be the most successful person in the world. Talking in front of the mirror will help you overcome hesitation and improve your speaking skills.

4. Learn new words

To speak English fluently you need to be able to learn and then remember new English words. With the habit of reading daily, you will see an impressive change in your ability to speak English. But later, when you regularly read in that situation, you can start taking a new word every day, and after understanding its meaning, you can make a meaningful sentence.

5. Make conversation, practice with others

If you don't eliminate your hesitation, your entire practice is half successful. For that, you should start talking in English with your friends, college friends, siblings and encourage them to return to the same language. With it, you will not only overcome your doubts and gain a good command of the language, but you will also be useful to many others.

6. Always use a dictionary

You have started reading things in English, but you will collide with countless words, which are unknown to you. For this purpose, always take a translation as soon as you collide with an unknown word; see its meaning in the dictionary. Then try to understand the meaning of that sentence.

7. Start writing diary

Journaling is a hobby for many defender people, but to have a good command of English, you should start writing only in English.

Written English

To have a command over written English one has to be focus on the following points given below:

1. Expand vocabulary

One should have a good command over written English to express himself clearly. It is not about recognizing many words; it is actually about using them correctly. Do this by learning new words with the example phrase, not just the word list.

2. Master English spelling

You must know how to write the words correctly. Misspelling changes the meaning of the sentence. For e.g. 'dear' and 'deer' sound same but have different meanings. When used wrongly can lead to misrepresentation of intentions.

3. Improve your grammar

Grammar is very important because it improves the quality of your article written in English. Always remember to use punctuation on appropriate times. Punctuation is a good way to improve your writing skills and make it clear and fluent.

4. Practice regularly

Writing can be difficult, so having a command of written English has to be practiced daily. However, the best ways to improve is with a pencil and paper or sit in front of your computer and write it down. Be prepared to write multiple versions of each lesson, because even for professional writers, the first draft is never perfect.

5. Read regularly

Reading is very helpful in many ways in English. It is a great way to get a feel for the different writing styles and see how to use words fairly.